Spotswood Hotel,

RICHMOND, Va., August, 1865.

IT having been reported that the Spotswood Hotel had been confiscated and closed, the proprietors deem it proper to assure the Public that such is not the case. The House is open for the accommodation of visitors, as it has been from its opening day in September, 1860.

The House has been remodeled, renovated, refurnished, and put in perfect order throughout, and the traveling public may rest assured of finding as comfortable accommations with us as can be found in any first class Hotel, North or South.

Our friends, patrons, and the travelling public generally, visiting Richmond, are cordially invited to make their home with us, and no pains will be spared to make them comfortable, as we are pledged to sustain the well known reputation of the House.

Our former patrons will find the old employees of the House still in our service, were they will be pleased to welcome them as formerly.

Pioneer Line of Steamers,

—FOR—

Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York and Boston, via Albemarle and Chesapeake Canal.

THE COMMODIOUS STEAMERS

PIONEER AND COMMODORE ADAMS,

Will leave New Berne for Norfolk on TUESDAY of each week at 8 o'clock, A M, connecting with the different lines of steame for the above-named points. Shippers of Goods will receive every facility and accommodation for the transportation of the same, as arrangements have been made with the different companies to forward goods to this line at low rates and without delay Each of these steamers are capable of carrying through the canal without difficulty, as they were built expressly for the trade. They are fitted up with STATE ROOMS and BERTHS capable of accommodating thirty-five passengers. Every attention will be paid to the comfort of passengers, who will not be subject to the inconvenience of transfer to other vessels, but will be taken through direct without change.

The tables of the steamers are liberally supplied with the best the market affords. Families travelling will find it to their interest to take this line, as they will thereby escape the danger and discomfort of a sea route, and the fatigue of railroad travel.

On the 15th of December next, if the business of the line warrants it, the steamer WILLIAMS will be put on the route, and tri-weekly trips will be made.

For freight or passage apply to WHITFORD, DILL & CO., New Berne, N. C.

New Skirt For 1866.

The Great Invention of the Age in HOOP SKIRTS.

J. W. BRADLEY'S New Patent DUPLEX ELLIPTIC (or double) SPRING SKIRT.

THIS INVENTION consists of DUPLEX (or two) ELLIPTIC PURE REFINED STEEL SPRINGS, ingeniously braided tightly and firmly together, edge to edge, making the toughest, most flexible, elastic and durable SPRING ever used. They seldom bend or break, like the Single Spring, and consequently preserve their perfect and beautiful Shape more than twice as long as any single spring skirt that ever has or can be made.

The wonderful flexibility and great comfort experienced particularly in all crowded Assemblies, Operas, Carriages, Railroad Cars, Church Pews, Arm Chairs, for Promonade and House Dress, as the Skirt can be folded when in use to occupy a small place as easily and conveniently as a Silk or Muslin Dress.

A Lady having Enjoyed the Pleasure, Comfort and Great convenience of wearing the Duplex Elliptic Steel Spring Skirt for a single day will never afterwards willingly dispense with their use. For Children, Misses and Young Ladies they are superior to all others.

The Hoops are covered with 2 ply double twisted thread and will wear twice as long as the single yarn covering which is used on all Single Hoop Skirts. The three bottom rods on every Skirt are also Double Steel, and twice or double covered to prevent the covering from wearing off the rods when dragging down stairs, stone steps etc., etc, which they are constantly subject to when in use.

All are made of the new and elegant Corded Tapes, and are the best quality in every part, giving to the wearer the most graceful and perfect Shape possible, and are unquestionably the lightest, most desirable, comfortable and economical Skirt ever made.

WEST BRADLEY & CARY, PROPRIETORS of the Invention, and SOLE MANUFACTURERS, 97 CHAMBERS, 79 & 81 READE STREETS New York.

For sale in all first-class stores in this City, and throughout the United States and Canada, Havana de Cuba, Mexico, South America and the West Indies.

Late Papers.

Salisbury Dec. 11th 1865. tfd-169.

To the Citizens of North-Carolina.

The termination of a sanguinary contest, which for the past four years has presented an impassable barrier to all social or commercial intercourse between the two great sections of our country, having at length happily cleared away all obstacles to a removal of those relations which formerly bound us together in a fraternal union, I take the earliest opportunity afforded me by this auspicious event, to greet my Southern friends, and to solicit from them a renewal of that extensive business connection which for a quarter of a century has been uninterrupted save by the great public calamity to which I have adverted.

It is scarcely necessary, on the threshold of a business re-union, I should repeat the warning so frequently given my friends—to beware of all those the specious and false titles of Imported Wines, Brandies, Holland Gin, Liquors, &c., have been equally destructive to the health of our citizens as prejudicial to the interests of the legitimate Importer.

Many years of my past life have been expended in an open and candid attempt to expose these wholesale frauds; no time nor expense has been spared to accomplish this salutary purpose, and to place before my friends and the public generally, at the lowest possible market price, and in such quantities as might suit their convenience, a truly genuine imported article.

Twenty-five years' business transaction with the largest and most respectable exporting houses in France and Great Britian have afforded me unsurpassed facilities for supplying our home market with Wines, Liquors, and Liqmures of the best and most approved brands in Europe, in addition to my own distillery in Holland for the manufacture of the "Schiedam Schnapps."

The latter, so long tested and approved by the medical Faculties of the United States, West Indies and South America as an invaluable Therapeutic, a wholesome, pleasaht, and perfectly safe beverage in all climates and during all seasons, quickly excited the cupidity of the home manufacturers and venders of a spurious article under the same name.

I trust that I have, after much toil and expense, surrounded all my importations with safeguards and directions which with ordinary circumspection will inshure their delivery, as I receive them from Europe, to all my customers.

I would however, recommend in all cases where it is possible, that orders be sent direct to my Depot. 22 Beaver Street, New York, or that purchases be made of my accredited agents.

In addition to a large stock of Wines, Brandies, &c. in wood, I have a considerable supply of old tried foreign wines, embraceing vintages of many past years, bottled up before the commencement of the war, which I can especialy recommended to all connaisseurs of these rare luxuries.

In conclusion, I wotld especially call the earley attention of my Southern customers to the advantage to be derived by transmitting their orders without loss of time, or calling personally at the Depot, in order to inshure the fulfilment of their favors from the present large and well selected assortment.

A DILEMMA.

We read in Holy Writ that the path of the transgressor is hard. The South is treated by the North, as represented in Congress, as a transgressor, and viewed in that light, the doctrine is advanced that not only must we feel that we have committed a grievous wrong, and agree most solemnly to abstain from its repetition in the future, but we must bring forth fruits meet for repentance. The House of Representatives by an overwhelming vote have declared their fixed determination not to repeal or even modify the oath prescribed to be taken by all who have been, or may be, elected to any office under the Government of the United States, commonly termed the "test oath." The effect of such a determination in one aspect, at least, must be apparent to all, namely: It excludes from such offices, almost all of our most tal ented aud trusted fellow-citizens. We do not believe that this resolve proceeds from any objection to the particular gentlemen, (with some exceptions) per se, nor on the supposition that such elections are the indicia of lingering disloyalty, nor to mortify the South or oppose a factious opposition to her preferences; such are the mere surface views of the matter. We perceive, or think we do, a much profounder rationale for it than any of the foregoing reasons, and it is this: President Johnson has declared, and has never receded from that declaration, and the North, as a people, have also declared that treason is the highest crime known to the law, and must be made odious. They next declare, as with one voice, that the South has committed treason. If then the South has committed treason, and that crime must be made odious, what more effectual means could be adopted, than to exclude from office those leaders, who before and during the war, held place and power under the Southern regime. The object, the grand object of punishment is to prevent a repetition of the offense—to deter others from a like violation of the law. These place-men have almost monopolized the offices of the country for years. Before the war, they were Union men—Union men, they declared, to the bitter end; yet, when the tug came, they threw their principles, and at the same time "jumped Jim Crow" to the tune of Dixie and the Bonnie Blue Flag. They managed in some way to keep their heads above the political waters and still "rule the roast." They claim to have merely "gone with their State," whereas they exercised a controlling influence over the destinies of their State. They put up the plea of compulsion when they themselves helped to tie the cords—claiming now in many cases to ha ve been always loyal to the United States, but a few months since none were so loud in their protestations of devotion to the South! Why did not such convenient patriots bare their breasts to the storm in the spring of 1861, and stay the surging tide of popular sentiment, and, if necessary, to go down before it, draw their Union mantle around them and fall for their country. No, such men may spout it but will never act on that beautiful sentiment of the Latin poet, "dulce et decorum est pro patria, mori," their maxim is rather "dulcisimum et maxime decorum est pro patria, vivere."

If it were a part to be performed in a play, doubtless they could die with much mock heroism. The truth is that the North contemns such men and they regard their plea of duty as a mere pretext for treason and an insult to the Northern understanding. They will have none of them, and they are determined as we infer from their action on the "test oath" to make treason odious by the severest punishment that could be inflicted upon such men, the denial of their right to hold office, and to except only those faithful disciples who always kept good Union oil in their lamps. The theory is that as the office-holders stir up rebellion, nothing could tend better to prevent any possible future outbreak, than to let these place-men know that in case of failure, they go by the board, and those who stand to the "rack fodder or no fodder" shall receive their reward.

The North demands that we shall repudiate this class of men—cut them off as offending members, and when we come to think over the matter, although it embraces ourselves, not as having been before, and during the War a so-called Union man (thank God) but as a former Secessionist.

We may urge however a modification so far as former Secessionists are concerned. Because they acted on what they conceived to be principle.

They thought that we had the right to do just what the so-called Union men did on the 2d of May 1861. They never sang hosannahs to the Union, and in the next breath hurrawed for "Southern rights and all." They intend as a body to stand by the Union for the future, right or wrong, because they have sworn it. Men who have sacrificed everything on earth, for an abstraction which they thought right, are not the men to break an oath. But we shall not pursue the subject further at this time, except to add, that the North sees through the veneered Unionism of most of the Southern representatives, and if there is one thing which they are bent on exacting from us, it is that such men be "reduced to the ranks."

We publish, for the benefit of those concerned, the follwing article just issued by Major Wickersham:

Bureau of Refuges, Freedman and Abandoned Lands
Headquarters Southern Dist. of N. C.
Wilmington, N. C., Dec. 11, 1865.

CIRCULAR.

To the Freedmen Southern District of North Carolina.

You are free. Men, women and children, you now belong to yourselves. You are at liberty to seek your own happiness. The constitution of the United States is the charter of your liberties. The government of the United States is the guardian of your liberties, the object of the war through which we have just passed, was the preservation of the Union—whereof its results is your freedom. It came suddenly, and it is not strange that much misunderstanding and confusion should exist. During the war al most everything has b en destroyed; houses fences, cattle, tools, &c., were swept away; many of the plantations were abandonded by the owners; the future was all uncertain. But war has ended, and with the return of peace have come the business and relations of civil life. All people, both black and white, should study their relations, which have been so radically changed by the war; they should devote themselves with all possible industry to restoring the prosperity of the country which is now so much reduced. This can only be done by constant and unceasing labor. All unjust prejudices must be laid aside, all causes of discord and strife must be avoided.

You must strive to be virtuous, intelligent and industrious; thus you will deserve the privileges of freedmen and the respect of all good citizens. You must now work your way upward. For the present you must labor for others, murmur not at what he pathey your wages are now your own, and if you are economical and save, you can in time purchase your own houses and lands yourselves. This is the only way in which you can obtain property. The United States has no lands, and consequently can give none away, as many of you think. It has given you your freedom, and will protect you in your persons and property; and this is all that any one can expect, either black or white.

Accept the present situation as it is, and trust Divine Providence for the future, when you are prepared for something that is different and better. That God who has led us thus far will provide. Remember that, whatever privileg s or property you acquire in the future, you must labor for and earn. Remember also, that your employers have rights as well as yourselves, their persons and property are to pe respected; the law will require you to respect them. All bargains and contracts should be sacredly observed, Be willing to work just as you agree to work. If contracts are broken, do not let the blame rest upon you. The law will require this of you. It requires it of all men, black or white, no th or south. To be free is to be subject to the law. In obtaining redresses for your wrongs, seek the justice of the law, and of lawful authority only; do not attempt to redress your wrongs yourselves. If this were permitted, society would be one continual scene of riot and bloodshed.

Freedmen, the order, prosperity and happiness of the country is, in a great measure, in your hands. Be patient, industrious, virtuous and pious, and satisfy the government and your friends, north and south, that you are worthy of the freedom which has been given you. You should also cultivate and encourage a respectful demeanor towards those with whom you are thrown in contact. Remember that you are to live among and be governed by the same people with whom you have always lived, and you should use every honest effort to command their respect.

Chas. I. Whickersham,
Brevet Major and Sup't.

Approved:
E. Whittlesey,
Colonel, and Acting Commissioner of the State of North Carolina.

The French to Leave Mexico.

NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—The Washington special correspondent of the Post states that while the President was preparing his message, the French Minister emphatically stated that the Emperor would much regret any expression in the messrge which would make it impossible to receed from his Mexican scheme without humiliation. The French Minister also assurred Mr. Seward that the French troops would be withdrawn from Mexico in a little while, and asked for patience on the part of our government.

It is reported that Gen. Logan is satisfied that there will be no difficulty, and that the Republic of Mexico will soon be peacefully reinstated.

The Congressional Oath Constutional.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Dec. 16.—Judge Busteed, of the United States District Court, decides that the Congressional oath for attorneys and civil officers is constitutional.

CONGRESSIONAL.

WASHINGTON, December 20.

Senate.

Mr. Sumner made a speech on the bill to maintain the freedom of the inhabitants of the States lately in rebellion, and read a number of letters, public and private, to show that the spirit of the rebellion still existed.

Mr. Saulsbury, replying, said there were indications of a split in the Republican Party. He said that if the President would stand by the principles of his Special Message, he would promise him to support of two millions of people who did not vote for him.

Mr. Cowan also replied to Mr. Sumner, saying the statements he made were based on anonymous letters.

House of Representatives.

In the House Mr. Stevens introduced a bill to double the pensions of those who were made pensioners by the casualties of the late war—to pay damages done to loyal men by the rebel government and rebel raiders, and to enforce the confiscation laws, so as to pay the same out of the confiscated property of the enemy.

Both Houses agreed to adjourn from to-morrow until the 5th of January.

Washington, Dec. 20.—In the Senate Mr. Morrill reported a bill to regulate the ejective francnise in the District of Columbia.

Mr. Sumner hoped it would be acted on very soon. The country demanded it.

Mr. Davis called Mr. Sumner to order, saying that the bill was not before the Senate for discussion.

Mr. Wilson called up the Senate bill to maintain the freedom of the inhabitants of the States lately in rebellion.

Mr. Sumner addessed the Senate in favor of the bill. He said that when he thought of what occurred in the Senate chamber on yesterday—the attempt to white-wash the sad condition of the rebel States—he felt that he ought to speak of nothing else to-day. He read a number of letters from the South private and public to show that the spirit of the rebellion still existed.

Mr. Salisbury said, from present indications there was to be a split in the Republican Party, and if President Johnson stood by the principles of his Special Message, he would promise him the support of two millions of people who did not vote for him at the late election.

Mr. Gowan controverted the statements made by Mr. Sumner, which he said were all based upon anonymous letters.

In the House a resolution was passed inquiring by what authority the freedmen were removed from confiscated and abandoned lands.

THE DEBATE ON THE MESSAGE.

Mr. Sumner said: We have a message from the President which is like the white-washing message of Franklin Pierce with regard to the atrocities in Kans s.

Mr. Johnson, of Maryland, and Mr. Doolittle objected to Mr. Sumner's adjective, and asked him to qualify the expression.

Mr. Sumner—I have nothing to qualify, nothing to modify, nothing to retract. In former days there was but one Kansas to suffer under illegal power. Now there are eleven Kansases suffering only as one suffered Therefore, sir, as eleven are more than one, so is the enormity of the present time more than the enormity of the days of Franklin Pierce.

Nevertheless, gov. Hamm Dixon and Doolittle had lectured him a little more explicitly, Mr. Sumner said he did not mean to impugn the patriotism or condemn the policy of the President; and so the matter was dropped.

HOUSE OF REPRENTATIVES.

Whereas the Constitution of the United States confers on Congress, in express terms, the power to regulate commerce among the several States, establish post-roads, and to raise and support armies; therefore Resolved by the Senate and House of Represe sentatives of the United States in Congress assembled. That every railroad company in the United States whose road is operated by steam, its successors and assigns be, and hereby is, authorized to carry upon and over its connections, boats, bridges and ferries, all passengers, troops, Government supplies, mails, freight and property on their way from one State to another State, and to receive compensation therefor.

WASHINGTON NEWS AND GOSSIP.

WASHINGTON, December 19.

RECONSTRUCTION.

The bill introduced by representative Ashly, of Ohio, to reconstruct the Southern States, is more stringent in its provisions than any for a similar object heretofore presented. It provides, among other things, for the appointment of Provisional Governors, with Marshals and District Attorneys, for the temporary discharge of civil duties.

The inhabitants of each State, irrespective of race or color, are to be enrolled, and if a majority take the oath to support the Constitution of the United States, the Governor shall, by proclamation, invite the loyal people to elect delegates to a Convention, to re-establish a State Government.—The delegates are required to take and subscribe to the oath of allegiance, and no person can thus serve or vote who has held or exercised any civil or military office under the Rebel usurpation, or voluntarily borne arms against the United States.

Both the oath to support the Constitotion of the United States and the oath of allegiance are to be administered to voters. The Constitution formed must be republican and not repugnant to the Constitution of the United States and the Declaration of Independence. And it must provide that involuntary servitude is forever prohibited; that no Confederate State or municipal debt shall ever be recognized or paid; that perfect toleration of religion shall be secured, and that no inhabitant shall ever be molested in person or property on account of his or her mode of religious worship, and that no person shall enter upon any office within the gift of the people until he shall have first taken the oath to support the Constitution of the United States, and an oath to maintain the perpetual union of the States. This covenant is to be perpetual.

If the Constitution shall come up to these and other requirements, a copy shall be sent to the President of the United States, who, after obtaining the consent of Congress, shall, by proclamation, recognize the Government so established.—This act is not to operate as a recognition of a State Government in the State of Tennessee till the conditions aforesaid are complied with, and till that time Tennessee and all the States recently in rebellion shall be subjected to this law.

It is not an unusual thing to hear sentimental young ladies singing in the parlor, "Who Will Care for Mother Now?" while the old lady is down in the kitchen polishing up the rusty old stote, or splitting wook to cook breakfast.

HOW MAJOR JONES POPPED THE QUESTION.

Too bashful to "pop the question," in the usual way, Major Jones persuad s his sweet heart to put up a stocking, which will hold a couple of bushels, on the night when Santa Claus pays his visits, receiving her promise to keep for life what he gave her. Into this the gallant and lovelorn Major contrives to introduce himself at the "witching hour of night." But we will let the Major speak for himself:

"I remained up till midnight, and when they were all gone to bed, I softly went into the back gate and went up to the back porch, and thar, shure enuff, was a great big meal bag hanging to the jice. It was monstrous unhandy to get to it, but I was determined not to back out.

So I set some chairs on the top of a bench and got hold of the rope and let myself down into the bag; but just as I was gettin' in, the bag swung against the chairs, and down they went with a terrible racket. But bnoody didn't wake up but Miss Stallins great big dog, and here he cum ripin' and tarin' thro' the yard like rath, and round and round he went, tryin' to find what was the matter. I sot down in the bag and didn't breathe louder than a kitten, for fear he'd find me out. The wind be an to blow 'bominable cold, and the old bag kept turnin' around, swinging so as to make me see sick as the mischief. I was afeard to move for fear the rope would break and let me fall, and thar I sot with my teeth rattlin' like I had the ager.

It seemed it would never come daylight, and I do believe if I didn't love Miss Mary so powerful I would have froze to death, for my heart was the only place that felt warm, and it didn't beat more than two licks a minit, only when I thought how she would be surprised in the mornin' and then it was on a canter.

Bimeby the cussed old dog come on the porch, and then began to smell about the bag, and then he barked like he thought he'd treed something. "Bow, wow, wow," said he. "Be gone, you abominable fool!" sez I, and I felt all over in spots, as big as a blanket, for I 'spected he'd nip me, and what made it worse, I didn't know whereabouts he'd take hold. "Bow, wow, wow!" T en I tried coaxing.

Come here good feller, sez I, and I whistled a little to him, but it was no use. There he stood and kept up his etarnal whinin and barkin all night. I couldn't tell when daylight was breakin' only by the chickens crowin, and I was monstrous glad to hear em, for if I'd had to stay one hour more I don't believe I'd ever got out of that bag alive.

They got him in the morning, covered with meal and almost frozen. But Mis Mary does not refuse the present. And he says: "I tell you what, it is worth hangin' in a bag from one Christmas to another to feel as happy as I have felt ever since.

A MESSENGER OF TROUBLE.

The recent action of Congress in relation to Mexican affairs has evidently impressed the Marquis de Montholon, the French Embassador, with an appreciation of the approach of a crisis in the relations between his Government and that of the United States. With a due sense of the responsibility devolving upon him, he has despatched his First Secretary of Legation, Count de Tournay, to Paris, ostensibly for the purpose of reporting to the Emperor the condition of popular sentiment here in regard to the Mexican question, and to receive from the arch intriguer of the Tuilleries, definite information as to the course to be pursued. The Count de Fravernay sailed on Wednesday in the Scotia, and certainly he takes with him intelligence of a nature to disturb the brain upon which, uneasily, rests the imperial diadem of France. Napoleon is a bold and skilfull builder of political fabries, and has hitherto been successful beyond precedent, almost beyond the wildest vission of a dreamer's imagination. But he has built his Mexican house upon a quicksand, and within the ordinary course of political events, it must fall. It is possible that his genius, his cunning, his ruling star, or whatever influence it may be that has served his ambitiou and stamped his desperate ventures with the seal of success, may yet give him the clue out of this labyrinth; but, unless Radical folly and fanaticism in this country play directly into his hands, every calculation of the chances predicts that he must loose his hold upon Mexico or retain it by the decisive triumph of his armies and navies over those of this Republic.

We do not think that Napoleon will risk the hazard of a war with the United States, unless his keen intellect discover the opportunity for triumph in the Radical poison that defeats the recuperative power of this country. None so quick as he to take advantage of the lack of harmony and concentration in the household of an opponent: and he is aware that, if the disunion intrigues of the Radicals should prevail, the best elements of our strength would be wanting in the struggle.

The territory usurped by Maximilion borders upon the frontier of the South. The tug of war would be there. Giving credit to the Southern people for a disposition to sustain the Government upon any foreign issue, even then can we expect, can we demand from them alacrity and earnestness of action while we deny them the right of representation and make them political outcasts and pariahs, whom not even the impulse of good intentions can awakeen from the apathy natural to their condition? Can we look for good service at arms from a people whom we wilfully wrong, humiliate, degrade and persecute? It is not in human nature, and certainly not an attribute of American character, to fight under the rod, to swell with martial enthusiasm under the frown of oppression. The Republic may shortly need the mailed hand of the South, nerved to all its strength by a heart eager and devoted in the cause. Let us clasp it now that we may be sure of its willing service then. Northern Exchange

The Savannah Republican, in reference to the visit of General Grant to Charleston, remarks: "The citizens and merchants of Charleston tendered a complimentary dinner to Lieutenant General Grant, which the General was compelled to decline on accounnt of his previous engagements. We are glad to see this manifestation of good will on the part of the citizens of our sister city, Charleston, as it shows a disposition to forget the past, and a willingness to accommodate themselves to the circumstances that surround them."

The same paper, in a leading article on the political situation of the State, says:

Let us waste no time in talking about the constitutionality of this or that measure. Those who fought for the preservation of that instrument will doubtless feel that they are best capable of judging of its requirements and conditions applicable to our case. Whatever arguments we might advance would be met by the simple citation, that "each House shall be the judge of the election returns and qualifications of its own members."—"That the United States shall guarantee to every State in the Union a republican form of government." Failing these would come the argumentum ad hominem, that the war-making power very naturally carries with it the power to enforce the conditions of peace. There has not been any change in the policy of the Administration, except such as our conduct has rendered absolutely necessary. Our refusal to act upon the suggestions of the President, accompanied, as they were, by expressions of the kindest regard, has constrained him to adopt a different course; and if his wishes are now presented in a more authoritative manner, it is our fault, not his. There is certainly no desire on his part to treat us as a subjugated people.

THE BANKRUPT BILL.

The bill introduced into the House of Representatives, on the 11th instant, to establish a uniform system of bankruptcy throughout the United States, provides:

1. That the District Courts of the United States shall be constituted courts of bankruptcy, and that they shall have original jurisdiction in their respective districts in all matters and proceedings in bankruptcy. It also provides that the several Circuit Courts of the U. States, within and for the districts where the proceedings in bankruptcy shall be pending, shall have a general superintendence and jurisdiction of all cases and questions arising under this act.

2. Provision is made for the appointment of Registers in Bankruptcy, to assist the Judge of the District Court in the performance of his duties under this act. The Register must be a lawyer, and must give bond to the United States. He must also be able to subscribe the oath of office approved by Congress in July, 1862.—The duties of the Register in Bankruptcy are clearly marked out for him, at length, in the bill.

3. An appeal may be taken from the District to the Circuit Court in all cases; but no appeal shall be allowed in any case from the District and Circuit Court, unless it is claimed, and notice given thereof to the Clerk of the District Court, to be entered with the record of the proceedings, and also to the assignee or creditor, as the case may be, or to the defeated party in equity, within ten days after the decision appealed from. No appeal or writ of error shall be allowed in any case from the Circuit Courts to the Supreme Court of the United States, unless the matter in dispute in such case shall exceed two thousand dollars.

4. The bill sets forth at length how to commence and continue proceeding under it in the courts designated. It also directs the matter of making assignments, and defines the duties of the assignee, the examination of bnkrupts, and the distribution of the bankrupt's estate.

5. It provides certain penalties against bankrupts, who shall, after proceedings have been commenced, secrete, destroy, or part with any of his property, with the intent to prevent it from coming into the hands of the assignee. It enacts severe penalties against any officer who shall take bribes from parties interested in any case of bankruptcy.

THE EVENTS OF THE WEEK.

The four prominent events of Monday and Tuesday were—the proclamation of the Secretary of State declaring that, in asmuch as twenty-seven of the States, being three-fourths of the States of the Union, have, by their Legislatures, ratified the constitutional amendment prohibiting slavery or involuntary servitude within the United States, except as punishment for crime, the same has become valid, to all intents and purposes, as a part of the Constitution of the United States—

The letter of the Secretary of State to the Provisional Governor of Alabama, relieving him from his trust, and the publication of a letter from the same to the Governor elect of Alabama, authorizing him to enter upon the discharge of his Gubernatorial functions—

The President's message enclosing the reports of Generals Grant and Howard upon the condition of the South; and

The Speech of Thaddeus Stevens in the House of Representatives.

These are events enough for two day's digestion. The auguries to be drawn from the three first may be pronounced decidedly encouraging, while there is nothing in the last to excite apprehension, not even when taken in connection with the declara ion of Senator Sumner that the President's message is "a white-washing message, only paralleled by that of Pierce on Kansas."

The indications are that Thaddeus Stevens and Sumner are now irrevocably at war with the President. They may be said to have burnt their bridges and shipping. Whether a sufficient number of the Republicans will follow them to make their antagonism formidable, remains to be seen. The President, Gen. Grant, General Sherman and General Howard united, constitute a mighty power, and any blows aimed at them will be apt to recoil with a stunning effect upon the assailants.

Mr. Raymond, of New York, appears as the leader of the conservative Republicans in the House, and the Jacobinical Pennsylvanian will find him a formidable antagonist. It is very manifest that a collision will soon occur, when we may look out for angry and vivid sparks.

SPIRITUALITIES.

In vino est veritas,
A little for the stomachs' sake.
The simp'ring fool who reads these lines will cry,
Ah! here's a plagiarist! Byron! Barnum!!
Such an opinion to forestall I'll try,
Ther. let the croakers sing aloud and darn 'em.
Byron I love, yet pity; and deplore
The fate that dimm'd his genius with a frown;
Mightier than Milton—sweeter than Tom Moore,
Than Shelly brighter—wiser too than Brown,
Yet, rather fond alas! of "Bobbin Roun."

I want no hero, buried bard or sage
No Thanatopsis, or a Hymn to Death;
I sing the model—Spiritual Age.
Perfected spirits, not of just men's breath.
"Then hang the banner on the outer wall,
The cry is still they come!" Vive La St Nick!
"Look to the Bastions front"!—"Stand down the Hall"!
"Haste to the Postern gate"—ye shavers quick
"A Bourbon is amongst us!" Let us lick—!

Or, rather let us go to Phœnix Hall,
From ashes risen to a thing of life,—
Imbibe a bottle, whether short or tall,
And laugh at Folly, while we smile at Strife.
Care to the winds! avaunt ye troubles all!
The war is over, and the outs are in,
Bring us a goblet! pour the whisky out!
(And don't forget to mix a little Gin.)
Here's to the Devil! author of all sin.

PROCLAMATION.

By W. W. Holden, Provisional Governor of North Carolina.

WHEREAS, IT HAS BEEN REPRESENTED to me that there is an urgent necessity in many of the Counties of this State, that funds should be raised by taxation for the support of the poor: Now, therefore, I, W. W. Holden, Provisional Governor of the State of North Carolina, by virtue of the power vested in me, do hereby proclaim and declare—

That a majority of the Provisional Justices of the Peace in any County in this State are hereby empowered and authorized to impose such a tax as in their judgment may be indispensable to the support of the poor; said tax to be levied, collected, and accounted for, and used in accordance with the provisions of chapters 98 and 87, Revised Code of North Carolina.

Provisional officers whose duty it is to execute the orders of the Provisional Justices, are hereby commanded to be prompt in the performance of their duty under this proclamation.

Done at our City of Raleigh, on the 9th day of December one thousand [L. S.] eight hundred and sixty-five, and in the year of the independence of the United States the 90th.

W. W. HOLDEN. Prov. Gov.

By the Governor:
W. R. RICHARDSON, Private Sec'y.

MARRIED!

In this city on the 21st instant, by the Rev Mr Aldrich of the Lutheran Church, WM. SMITHDEAL Esq, to MISS LAURA K. SMITH, all of this city.

May happiness attend the pair,
Unchanged by sorrow, or by care;
May they live in loves sweet bower,
Without pain or trouble, care or sorrow,

LOCAL.

GENERAL PACKARD.

We learn with pleasure that Col. JASPER PACKARD, commanding this District has been promoted to the rank of Brevet Brigadier General. It is well deserved, and will gratify our citizens.

We are indeed gratified, not only as a citizen, but as a personal friend of Gen. Packard, at the intelligence.

A modest dignified christian gentleman, an urbane and courteous officer, brave, kind, affable and accessable to all. By none could promotion have been more justly earned, and upon none could it have been more judiciously bestowed.

WRONG INFERENCES.

In our leader of yesterday, we took occasion, by way of illustrating, that a certain gentleman had missed his profession and should on account of his brilliant genius have given himself to the Bar, to pay a high compliment to that gentleman, (Bro. Cole.)

We understand that some dunderheads think we meant to convey the contrary idea. Had not such parties better revive their English Grammar and study the sense of what they read, before they turn critics?

THE LATEST AND GREATEST Discovery in Dental Hygenic, is SOZODONT. It has superseded all the ordinary dentifrices, and, for this reason; that while it contains no solvent principle injurious to the enamel of the teeth, it obliterates tartar and every other dental concretion, prevents canker of the gums, removes blemishes, both from the molars and incisors, and leaves the breath pure and sweet.

FOR SALE.

I OFFER for sale a small Tract of Land situated on the N. C R. R, 2½ miles South of Salisbury. This Tract contains about 300 acres, more or less, 60 of which has been recently clared and is fresh, and new, and exceedingly fertile—a part of the 60 acres is high meadow land, and constitutes about half of the whole arable land now cleared. The meadow may be used for sereal or grass purposes, and is equally valuable for both. The ballance of the land is well timbered with virgin growth and convenient to a good market. There is also a "Gold Mine" of tested value on the same Tract, to which I propose to attach 30 acres or more of wooded land, which I propose to sell separately. I shall remain in Salisbury for two weeks, where I shall be happy to treat with any person wishing to purchase, after which time I shall intrust the sale of the above to the care of Col. B. Craize my accounted agent. The purchaser can have the benefit of supplying himself with 60 bbls of corn and all of the farming implements &c. necesary to conduct the farm.

PROSPECTUS.

THE publication of the NORTH CAROLINA PRESBYTERIAN will be resumed in Fayetteville, on Wednesday 2d January next.

Confidently relying upon the hearty suport which we have heretofore received, we shall endeavor to render the paper more attractive, both in appearance and matter, than it has ever been, sparing neither pains nor expense, in the accomplishment of this purpose.

With the passing away of old things, a new spirit of activity, energy and enterprise has been infused into every department of secular thought and business. Why should not the CHURCH, also, partake of this progressive advancement? Why should she, of all the agencies, brought to bear with such tremendous force upon the civilization of the present time, be inefficient, laggard and almost hopeless, in the working out of her own destiny?

To arouse the CHURCH to the importance and necessity of WORK: of unceasing, restless, tireless energy in the service of her Master and Head; this shall be our first and chiefest aim. In this we need assistance. We are not alone, sufficient for these things. Our brethren must help us in every way; contributions from their own stores of thought and study; by zealous co operation in a common cause for the benefit of all; by extending our circulation throughout all our borders, and thus giving us both the means and the opportunity of performing well the work to which we have consecrated all that we have, and all that we hope for on the earth.

Chapel Hill N.C, Nov. 13th, '65. 1463m

To the People of the South!

THE OLD

"EXAMINER" REVIVED!!

The undersigned, having purchased its good will and subscription books, proposes to revive, at an early day, the old Richmond Examiner, of which the late John M. Daniel was editor-in-chief, and the undersigned his constant associate for the entire period of the war.

It is believed that the public will recognize an appropriate and practical idea in this enterprise.—Efforts to revive other papers in the South are announced, and it is certainly neither a visionary nor unworthy endeavour for the literary associates of a gallant spirit that now sleeps in the grave to essay honour to his memory and a service to the public by reviving the old Examiner newspaper, so long the ornament of Southern letters, an example at once of the scholarship and chivalry of Virginia; and perhaps the only school in the South of pure and classick English distinct from the models and redeemed from the innovations of Northern instructors.

The fame of the old Richmond Examiner reached to the most distant parts of the world. The paper was well known in Europe. It was pronounced by a distinguished Northern politician "the best expenent of the civilization of the South." It was a school of literary scholarship for the youth of the South; the glass of Southern chivalry; an example of independence, of courage, of iron spirit in newspaper literature, which its chief illustrated in his own noble and severe life, and defended more than once on the field of honor, when the undersigned stood with in the vindication of the freedom of the press.

Surely there are many people in the South who will unite in an effort to revive a newspaper which was an ornament to its literature and a school for its virtues. The task is an ambitions one. But the undersigned attempts it in no mean or flagging spirit. He has already undertaken to marshal a corps of the old writers for the Examiner; he will be able to reproduce its typographical features, and present to Southern readers a fac simile of their old acquaintance; and he fervently trusts and resolutely pledges every resource of intellect and will to breathe again in this form of material resurrection the same spirit of fearless criticism, chivalrous contest and unhesitating encounter with abuse that animated it of old.

The undersigned owns some pledges of affection in this enterprise. His relations with the late John M. Daniel was close, intimate and affectionate to the day of his death. And it will indeed be a labor and aspiration of love if he can produce some echo from the grave of lamented friendship and rekindle from the ashes of the past and the dead some of the fire that illuminated the familiar pages of our literature.

In the present uncertainty of political questions—the dissappointment of old issues and the imperfect development of the new—it would, of course, be impossible to state with precision the political career of the Examiner. But this may be said with safety; that it will use all its influence in restoring order, tranquility and prosperity to the people; and while aspiring to be brave and independent, it will avoid every scheme of faction and disorganization, devote itself to the works of conservatism, and sustain, at every risk, the present President of the United States as long as he fulfills those noble indications he has already given of planting again the rights of constitutional liberty in the South, setting his face against the Malignants of the North, and thus entitling himself to such common support of conservative men in all parts of the country as will secure the continuation of his wise and patriotic administration.

No pains or expense will be spared to make the Examiner the newspaper of the South. For every department of it the services of the most accomplished and active writers will be secured. Special correspondents will be posted in New York and Washington and other important centres of intelligence in the country. A former active editor of the old Examiner, Edward A. Pollard, will be employed as correspondent from Europe in which country he proposes to write a History of the War, and to form a familiar acquaintance with the politics of Europe, especially in connection with American questions and topicks. This correspondence will constitute a special feature of interest in our paper; it will enliven its columns from week to week with the productions of an animated pen; and it will afford our readers a singularly good opportunity to make themselves acquainted with cotemporary Europe, and to apprehend the growing interest of our foreign relations.

The undersigned was recently the editor of the Richmond Times, but in consequence of a disagreement with the part proprietor of that paper, he has been forced to leave it and appeal to the civil courts for his rights; and he now proposes to himself the nobler task of reviving a paper endeared to the South by many memories of the past, and associated with so much that is admirable in its heroick and literary name in history. He calls upon the old subscribers of the Examiner, from Virginia to Texas, to rally to its support, to renew their subscriptions, and to assist in the revival of a paper which has existed for three-quarters of a century, and which has ever been solicitous to honor truth and virtue, prompt to chastise abuses, and ambitious to defend and adorn the civilization and literature o the South.

Advertisements will be inserted on the same terms as published by the other Richmond papers.

The first number of the Examiner will contain a sketch of the life of the late John M. Daniel, whose name is historical in connection with the Virginia press, and than whom the annals of newspaper literature in America show few more extraordinary men—certainly no greater master of vigor and satire in composition. The first numbers will also contain a full and complete account of the evacuation of Richmond, with all the particulars of the surrender of the city, the entry of the troops, the great conflagration, &c., taken from the advance sheets of E. A. Polard's "Fourth Year of the War," now in press. This account will be found intensely interesting; and aside from this consideration, every one should secure and preserve these numbers, as they will be valuable hereafter as affording a true and faithful report of what the South has had hitherto but the imperfect narratives which have been written and published in the Northern press.

The old contributors and correspondents of the Examiner are particularly requested to communicate with the undersigned.

All letters and communications of every character should be addressed to NOTICE.

MODEL SEWING MACHINE.

(From the New York Herald)

Prominent among the mechanical triumphs of this most ingenious age, comman honesty compels us to notice the Empire Sewing Machine, commended as usully styled perfection itself. Useful as have been the various sewing machines, from time to time presented to the public, each one of them has been cursed with some radical defect, which detracts from general utility. Warned by the experience of his predecessors, the inventor of the Empire Machine has produced an instrument, combining all the advantages for which others are vaunted, and obviating every defect which can be attributed to them by the most fastidious critic.

The Empire Machine is a marvellous combination of simplicity, economy and perfect workmanship, being durable, free from liability to get out of order, noiseless, and easy of, operation. its mechanical contrivance is such as to secure stability, freedom from accident, and accuracy as to workmanship. By the use of the patented shuttle and straight needle, it makes a stitch, which can neither rip nor ravel, at the same time, it can operate perfectly upon every species of material from leather to cambric. with threads of cotton, linen or silk, from the finest to the coarsest number.

As the Empire Machine is gradually supplanting its more antique rivals, no one in want of a useful instrument of this description, be he or she tailor, coachmaker, dressmaker or seamstress, can do otherwise than secure one of these economical and inimitable machines, suited alike for family and manufacturing purposes. The office of the Empire Manufacturing Co. is at No. 536 Broadway, New York City, where they are now supplying these Empire Machines a prices far below the real value of the instrument.—New York Herald.
